I. Theme

The theme of the Literacy Research Association’s 71st Conference “Widening the Angles of Literacy Research: Honoring Untold Stories Using Contrapuntal Approaches” draws its inspiration from the oeuvre of the late Palestinian activist and language scholar Edward Said as well as the current work of Carla O’Connor, Arthur F. Thurnau Professor of Education at the University of Michigan. O’Connor’s phrase “wide angle view” and Said’s description of “contrapuntal stories” refer to the complexity of the lived experience particularly of persons of color that is seldom evident in typical research reports which tend to tell only “one story”—usually from the researcher’s point of view—about an individual or group, rather than narrating the multiple, intersectional identities which create the richness and potentialities of any person or community. The 2021 theme is meant to encourage the LRA research community to counter, as O’Connor claims, the “misrecognition” that so often occurs when describing a research population by only static variables such as race, ethnicity, income, gender, occupation, test scores, etc. Thus, by taking “wide angle views” or “contrapuntal” approaches which illuminate all the various stories that give insight into any person’s, families’, or communities’ multimodal literacy behaviors, greater insight is provided as to how to enhance the potentialities toward more equitable, inclusive and just participation in society for all persons.

II. General Information

The Literacy Research Association, a non-profit professional organization, is comprised of individuals who share an interest in advancing literacy theory, research, and practice. We are a community that engages in research and dialogue pertaining to literacy and related topics. An important part of LRA’s mission is to support the professional development of emerging and established scholars, and to advocate for research-informed improvements in education. We seek high-quality research and discussions of important theoretical and methodological issues. Only original work related to literacy not presented or published elsewhere may be proposed for the conference. Also, proposals should not be simultaneously submitted elsewhere.

Interested parties are invited to submit proposals for presentation at the 71st Annual Conference. The conference will be held at the Westin Peachtree Plaza, Atlanta, GA. For general inquiries and a digital copy of the Call for Proposals visit <http://www.literacyresearchassociation.org/annual-conference> or, please visit the association’s website (www.LiteracyResearchAssociation.org). Inquiries about specific areas of research should be directed to the respective Area Chairs (see Attachment B).

III. General Regulations and Policies

Current membership in the association is not required for submitting proposals or attending the conference, but all participants and attendees are required to register. Only original work related to literacy not presented or published elsewhere may be proposed. Also, you should not submit a proposal that is already under review for another conference. A proposal may be submitted only once and to only one area, following the Guidelines for Submission (Attachment A) and, with the exception of study groups, blinded for review. No individual can appear on the program more than three (3) times, including participation as a chair, discussant, or presenter, but excluding invited talks, paper session chairs, and paper session discussants. If your name appears more than three (3) times, the program chair will contact you to ask you to reduce your number of appearances.

IV. Guidelines for Submission and Deadlines

All proposals must be submitted online through the All Academic system. Proposal submissions will be available on January 11, 2021. Information on the submission process can be found on the association’s website www.literacyresearchassociation.org Proposals must be complete and conform to the Guidelines for Submission (Attachment A) to be considered for review.

Proposals must be pasted into the submissions form and limited to 1,500 words. Tables and figures can be uploaded into the PDF box located on the last page of the submission form.

Proposals must be submitted online to the appropriate area no later than 11:59 PM PST on March 1, 2021. See Attachment B for a list of the program areas, topic descriptors, and area chairs’ e-mail addresses for queries. Proposals that do not fall within a defined content area may be submitted to Area 14.

If you have questions or need assistance with your submission, do not contact the conference chair. Please contact lrahq@literacyresearchassociation.org.

V. Notification

Only the proposal organizer will receive an e-mail confirmation when a proposal has been successfully submitted online. If you do not receive a confirmation e-mail message, contact the LRA Proposal Administrator via e-mail at: lrahq@literacyresearchassociation.org for assistance. The proposal organizer will be notified of the decision regarding acceptance or rejection of the proposal by July 24, 2020. The organizer must notify all participants of the proposal's acceptance, scheduled time and date of the session, and other relevant information when this information is received.

VI. Audiovisual Equipment

The association will provide LCD projectors/screens for all session rooms (with the exception of Roundtable and Poster sessions). Any additional A/V must be paid for by the presenters and be requested through the Headquarters Office via email at: lrahq@literacyresearchassociation.org.

VII. Types of Submissions

The association invites submissions that reflect a diversity of methodological and theoretical approaches. LRA accepts the following types of proposal submissions:

NOTE: All session formats and durations listed below assume a face-to-face conference. While LRA's 2020 Annual Meeting was held virtually due to COVID19 restrictions, and substantial adjustments needed to be made in the format of all sessions, proposal submitters for LRA 2021 should assume that the descriptions of sessions in this Call for Proposals are accurate for LRA's 71st Annual Meeting in Atlanta, GA. If conditions are such that a virtual or hybrid meeting will be held in 2021 and session formats will subsequently need to be altered, all persons with accepted proposals will be notified of those changes in as timely a manner as possible.

Individual Paper

Individual paper submissions are organized into a paper session by Area Chairs. The session includes up to three data-based papers and/or theoretical papers. Each individual will present for approximately 20 minutes. A chair is assigned to each paper session to introduce and monitor time. In cases where there is clear content expertise, a discussant will be assigned to the session to stimulate discussion. The final 30 minutes in the session are reserved for the discussant's comments and audience interaction.

A data-based paper provides background, rationale, questions, methodology, results, and implications of a completed study. The research should be complete, and the proposal should include findings and implications. Proposals must mask the identity of the author(s).

A theoretical paper may include, but is not limited to, research syntheses, position papers on critical issues related to literacy research, or presentations of models of literacy, literacy acquisition, or literacy instruction. The thesis, argument structure, and related literature should be clearly described. Proposals must mask the identity of the author(s).

Roundtable

Typically, a roundtable is a Research-in-Progress Report, which describes an on-going study that has made sufficient progress and provides interim results. Roundtable sessions may include one or more papers at a table. Proposals must mask the identity of the author(s). Roundtable sessions are normally scheduled for 90 minutes with a paper presentation (approximately 15-20 minutes allotted for) followed by an audience discussion. (approximately 20 minutes), for a total session time of 40-45 minutes each. A chair must be assigned to introduce and monitor time.

Research or theoretical work, in the planning stages, should not be submitted for review as a roundtable presentation.

Audiovisual equipment (i.e., LCD projectors, screens) is not provided for roundtable sessions.

Poster

Poster sessions combine the graphic display of materials with the opportunity for individualized, informal discussion of the research throughout a 90-minute session. Poster sessions will be dedicated to the presentation of completed studies as well as work-in-progress. Individual presenters set up displays representing their papers in a large area with other presenters. These 90-minute sessions are ideal for participants who are conducting research and may have preliminary findings to present and discuss. Work-in-progress proposals should still meet the general criteria for review (see below) and must present original research or theoretical work. Proposals must mask the identity of the author(s). Research or theoretical work, in the planning stages, should not be submitted for review as a poster presentation. Audiovisual equipment (i.e., LCD projectors, screens) is not provided for poster sessions.

Symposium

A symposium brings together literacy research focused on a strong, unifying theme. The session usually consists of three individual research presentations that are submitted by one person, who organizes a coherent event to feature information on one topic. Symposia typically include a chair, three speakers, and a discussant and are scheduled for 90-minute time periods. Each speaker presents for approximately 20 minutes and should have a focused topic and title. The final 30 minutes is set aside for the discussant's comments and audience interaction. Proposals must mask the identity of the author(s).

Strong preference will be given to symposia that include scholars who collaborate to organize sessions on topics of research from diverse paradigmatic, theoretical, and/or methodological perspectives.

Alternative Format

An alternative format focuses on significant research-based issues representing a strong, unifying theme. These 90-minute sessions are creative alternatives in which presenters share their research and engage participants through alternative modes, including theatre/performance, media and technology simulations, cultural circles, interactive inquiry, think tank sessions, open mic, or other delivery approaches. Alternative format sessions may include a chair, a varied number of presenters, and a discussant or discussants, and are scheduled for 90-minute time periods. Speaker presentations may vary in time, but all should have a focused topic and title. The final 30 minutes is set aside for the discussant's comments and audience interaction. Proposals must mask the identity of the author(s).

Study Group

A study group provides an opportunity for focused, well-planned discussion of new concepts and research related to a topic. Study groups meet each day of the Conference, and attendance is open to all meeting participants. Study group leaders and participants may decide to develop a brief statement about their topic and its relationship to literacy education and stakeholders' decision-making. This statement/draft may be submitted for development in collaboration with an Area Chair. Study groups should briefly describe their history, productivity, and current approach to supporting scholarship in the area. Study Group proposals do not need to mask the identity of the author(s).

*Study groups typically will meet Wednesday-Friday from 12:00 – 1:00 pm.

NOTE: Due to the virtual format of the 70th Annual Meeting in 2020, study groups were able to be scheduled in three, 45-minute sessions during a 3-hour block in the mornings from Wednesday – Friday, allowing persons to attend more than one group. Although hotel constraints on conference space make such scheduling difficult in an in-person meeting, every effort will be made by the planning committee to allow attendance at more than one study group if possible.

VIII. Review of Proposals and Criteria

All proposals, including Study Groups, must receive (3) reviews by reviewers who are association members and who have presented their work at previous conferences and/or who have published relevant peer-reviewed research.

All proposals, with the exception of Study Groups, must mask the identity of the author(s). Citing one's own work is permissible, and is often necessary and useful, but authors must be careful to not reveal their identity. At the discretion of the respective area chairs, proposals that provide obvious clues to an author's identity may be rejected or returned for revision.

Review Criteria

During the proposal submission process, presenters will indicate the category of inquiry that best describes their literacy-related research. Reviewers will use the criteria listed below to evaluate each type of proposal.

All presenters in an accepted session (excluding any discussants) are required to submit a paper by the deadline for final paper submissions, especially in time for discussants to prepare remarks. Papers for symposia are not limited in length but may be shorter than final full papers (e.g., 1,000 words). Papers need to address all of the elements required for paper submissions (Data-based or Theoretical, see Section VIII above): objectives or purposes; perspectives(s) or theoretical framework; methods, techniques or modes of inquiry; data sources, evidence, or materials; findings and conclusions, and scholarly significance of the research.

Each presenter should provide a 1-2-page précis for distribution to the audience or upload the file to the All-Academic website in advance of their presentation. The précis typically includes the name and address of the presenter, a statement of the issue or question being examined, tables or figures for key findings, a summary of the conclusions/interpretations, and key references. Roundtable and alternative session presenters typically provide a similar overview depending on the focus of their session. In addition to the précis, presenters are required to send a copy of their full paper to the assigned discussant 3 weeks before the start of the scheduled Annual Conference.

X. Publication of Papers

Presenters are strongly encouraged to submit their papers for possible publication in either Literacy Research: Theory, Method and Practice (LR:TMP) or the Journal of Literacy Research (JLR). However, acceptance on the program does not guarantee publication. Consult the LR:TMP style sheet for guidelines in preparing the manuscript. The editors of LR:TMP will send papers to appointed review board members for review. Individuals are also encouraged to submit papers to the ERIC system.

XI. Competitive Awards

LRA has several awards that are presented at the Annual Conference. The following are two awards that are based upon proposals that are presented at the conference.

A. J. Michael Parker Award

The J. Michael Parker Award was established in 2001 in honor of J. Michael Parker, winner of the Student Outstanding Research Award, to encourage research in adult literacy. The award is given to graduate students and untenured professors who are LRA members and present research on adult learning or education at the Annual Conference. Recipient(s) of the award will receive $500.

Committee members will rate the submissions on the following criteria:

1. Research is capable of making a significant contribution to theory and/or practice of adult literacy learning and instruction.
2. Methodology is appropriate to the research question and of sufficient rigor.
3. Implications of the research are of a scope needed to impact the field.

Applicants are required to submit their full paper (25 pages or less) electronically by October 1, 2021. Papers must be double-spaced and in 12-point font. The text limit does not include references and any appendices. Those interested in applying should visit the award's website for application instructions and materials (<http://www.literacyresearchassociation.org/award--j--michael-parker-award>).

B. Student Outstanding Research Award

The Student Outstanding Research Award was initiated in 1985 to encourage greater participation of students in the Annual Conference and to honor excellent scholarship. The award is given annually for an outstanding student paper, presented at the Conference, which may or may not be based on a dissertation. All forms of research, including conceptual papers, are welcomed. Recipient(s) of the award will receive $500. A version of the winning paper is published in LR:TMP. Those interested in applying should visit the award's website for application instructions and materials. Please check the criteria described below before requesting award information:

1. The paper must be solely student-authored. It may be co-authored with other students, but cannot be coauthored with a faculty member, either as presented or in its published form.
2. The proposal must have been accepted for presentation at the 2021 Conference.
3. The applicant must submit the full paper (25 pages or less) electronically by August 15, 2021 to the committee chair accompanied by a brief note indicating that the applicant is applying for the 2021 Student Outstanding Research Award. See the website for information about application materials.
